Summer CECS Teaching Policy:
The Summer CECS teaching policy gives first priority to the teaching of core courses in each Department, pending funding availability. These core courses will be taught by faculty who can teach the course so that the Department can meet its 1st priority of teaching as many core courses as the available budget allows. This summer teaching policy will include an equitable rotation amongst all faculty, to ensure that everyone has a chance to teach. The rotation may span several years before all faculty have a chance to be accommodated. Should a faculty member decline their opportunity to teach, they will forfeit their opportunity, and be put at the end of the list for reconsideration at a later time.